MOON seat

Innovative, modular and multifunctional seating elements

The Moon element is a simple but in many ways a useful piece of furniture designed for comfortable sitting, lying or use as a low table.

The Moon element is composed of two separate parts that fit together tightly forming a block. When we want to stretch our legs, Moon can be transformed into an easy-chair simply by shifting the upper part in the position of a backrest. We can also combine two or more Moon elements together and form different compositions, such as sofa, a combination of a table with one or more sitting elements, or a combination of four functioning as a bed.
